

Climate change, disaster risk reduction, and resilience

climate change, disaster risk reduction & resilience

In the Pacific, climate change, natural hazards and environmental degradation are ever-present threats, undermining, livelihoods, security and human rights. Pacific peoples are determined to build their resilience, adapt to, as well as mitigate their growing realities to protect their land and homes. Focusing on people centred and integrated solutions.

We have undertaken the following projects in this area:

Regional Pacific Nationally Determined Contributions Hub meeting

February 2020 Meeting rapporteur Client: Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ)

February 1, 2020

Women's resilience to disasters and climate change

November 2019 - May 2020. Consultant to assist in facilitating consultations in Kiribati, Vanuatu, Marshall Islands for the Women's Resilience to Disasters Programme. Client: UN Women

November 1, 2019

Human mobility in the context of climate change

August- September, 2019 Review and finalisation of gender and human mobility research, and development of a toolkit module Client: Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ)

August 1, 2019

Women's Resilience to Disaster and Climate Change

In progress Leading the consultations and programme design for a UN Women programme on Women's Resilience to Disasters and Climate Change Client: UN Women, Suva

June 1, 2019

Green Climate Fund evaluation

April- May, 2019 National Consultant to Support an Independent Evaluation of the Green Climate Fund's Country Ownership Approach - Suva, Fiji Client: ICF

April 1, 2019

Resilience Training

January - September , 2019 Integration of resilience aspects into ecosystem-based management guidelines and training Client: Wildlife Conservation Society

January 1, 2019

Certificate in resilience

November 2018- January 2019 Developed a programme of study for the national certificate in resilience (DRR and CCA) Level 1 Client: Ministry of Youth and Sports (Fiji)

November 1, 2018

Design and facilitation of a lessons-learned workshop

October- November, 2018 Design and facilitation of a lessons-learned workshop Client: Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ)

October 1, 2018

Green Entrepreneurship

September 2018 - February 2019 and March 2020.. Designed and led a Green Enterprise development training and mentoring programme. This also included the development of a guide to Green Business for Fiji, Vanuatu and Kiribati. Client: Global Green Growth Institute, Fiji

September 1, 2018

Climate-ready consultations and work plan development

February - May 2017 Supported initial consultations in Tonga, Samoa, Kiribati and Tuvalu and the development of a Year 1 workplan for a Climate Ready, a climate finance project. Client: AECOM

February 1, 2017

Resilient development research

June - November 2016 Blurb: Research to support a review of the New Zealand Government's Aid Programme from a socially-inclusive, resilient development perspective with a particular focus on Kiribati and Tuvalu. Client: John Hay and Associate

June 1, 2016

Impact of cyclone Winston on fisheries-dependent communities in Fiji

May - July 2016 Support to analysis of the impact of cyclone Winston on fisheries-dependent communities in Fiji. Client: Wildlife Conservation Society

May 1, 2016