

Talanoa Consulting is a multi-disciplinary consultancy firm. We are seeking a highly motivated and organised Analyst that shares our values of locally-led development to join our fast-paced team. The ability to talanoa with a wide range of partners and engage (with passion) on a diversity of topics is a must!

As a small company this is a wide-ranging role and will give the Analyst significant responsibility for many aspects of their own work including supporting or leading deliverables under consultancy contracts. The work will involve desk-based and field research, collecting, analysing and synthesising data, co-designing and co-delivering training and workshops, drafting reports and other outputs. This position will work across a range of topics (e.g. fisheries, conservation, disasters, climate change, gender and rights-based approaches). This is a fulltime position reporting to Principal Consultant & Research Scientist Dr. Sangeeta Mangubhai.

Requirements for the position:

- Degree (preferably Masters or PhD) in natural sciences, gender or climate change, from a recognised institution
- At least 3 years experience working in fisheries, conservation, climate change, or gender and rights-based approaches
- Ability to critically review and analyse data and information
- Highly organised and able to juggle multiple projects and deliverables in a timely way
- Strong attention to detail and performs work with honesty, diligence and integrity
- Demonstrated ability to write and present in English. Additional languages are a bonus.

Deadline for applications: Friday 17th January 2025, 5.00pm

Applicants must submit a cover letter (3 pages maximum) detailing how your skills and experience meet the selection criteria and an updated resume with contact details of at least 3 professional referees prior to the deadline. All electronic files submitted should be labelled with your full name. Only shortlisted applicants will be contacted.

Applications should be mailed to: applications@talanoa-consulting-fiji.com
